

User Personas – Loneliness Among Teenagers (Based on 3 Interviews)

Persona 1 – The Hardworking but Left-Out Student

About: A teenager who is highly focused on academics but often feels excluded when peers socialize while they are studying.

Goals: Perform well academically, maintain close relationships, and feel included among peers.

Pain Points: Feels lonely when others are enjoying themselves without them; experiences stress during exams and interpersonal conflicts; compares themselves with people seen online.

Support System: Relies mainly on family and a best friend for emotional support.

Coping Mechanisms: Sleeping, eating favorite food, listening to music, and talking to trusted people.

Key Quote: "Talk it out. Tell your feelings to someone and try to overcome it."

Persona 2 – The Reflective Overachiever

About: A thoughtful teenager who values meaningful connections and struggles when feeling disconnected despite being around people.

Goals: Balance studies and personal responsibilities while maintaining emotional well-being.

Pain Points: Feels lonely when friends are unavailable or when dealing with problems others may not understand; feels pressure from comparing achievements on social media.

Support System: Selective about sharing problems and prefers trusted friends or family members.

Coping Mechanisms: Listening to music, watching light-hearted videos, walking, and staying engaged in meaningful activities.

Key Quote: "It's okay to ask for help. Even one trusted person can make a big difference."

Persona 3 – The Quiet Overthinker

About: A teenager who enjoys companionship and feels emotionally affected when spending too much time alone.

Goals: Maintain emotional balance, reduce overthinking, and stay connected with trusted people.

Pain Points: Feels lonely when isolated for long periods; experiences stress from pressure, overthinking, and unmet expectations.

Support System: Depends on close friends, trusted people, and family support.

Coping Mechanisms: Listening to music, resting, talking to someone, and keeping busy.

Key Quote: "Don't stay alone. Talk to someone you trust."
