

Design Thinking

Topic: Teens suffering with loneliness & depression

Name: Katkuri Saathvik

Roll.No: se24uari186

Team Name: Prototype Squad

Class: AI-2

Interview -1(Akash)

1. Audio file

Interview_1.mpeg

2. Transcript of that audio

1. Do you feel lonely sometimes? When do you usually feel that way?

Yeah, I do feel lonely sometimes. Usually it happens when I'm not with my close friends. When there are new people around whom I don't know, it becomes hard for me to mingle with them. In those situations, I tend to feel quiet and a bit lonely.

2. What situations usually make you feel lonely?

Yeah, as I said earlier, I usually feel lonely when I am with a group of people I don't know. It becomes difficult for me to mingle with them. Sometimes I also feel lonely when I am alone in my room with nothing to do and no one around to talk to.

3. What situations or things in your life make you feel stressed or emotionally low?

When I'm not able to express certain things, even though they are very easy to say, I feel stressed. I also feel emotionally low when people don't listen to my words properly or misunderstand what I'm trying to say.

4. Does social media ever affect how you feel about yourself or your life?

I don't really use Instagram, so most of my social media activity is on YouTube and WhatsApp. Because of that, social media doesn't affect how I feel about myself or my life very much, so I guess I can't really answer that question.

5. Are you comfortable sharing your problems with someone? Whom do you usually talk to?

Yes, I feel comfortable sharing my problems with my close friends or my parents. I usually talk to people who listen to me properly and understand my situation.

5.1 How much do you usually share your problems with others?

If the problems are small and I can solve them by myself, I usually don't share them with my friends. But if the problem is serious, makes me stressed, or I need help, then I talk to my friends and express my feelings to them

6. Do you feel supported by your friends or family when you are going through a difficult time?

Yes, I do feel supported. If I express my problems properly to them, they will be there for me. I also have two friends who understand me even when I don't say things clearly, and being with them makes me feel better.

7. When you feel sad or overwhelmed, what do you usually do to feel better?

Most of the time, I watch movies, especially ones that teach something about life. If I am very stressed, I watch horror movies or talk to my parents. Usually, I spend some time alone and try to come out of it by myself.

8. What do you think helps you more when you feel very lonely or down?

Doing some work usually helps me feel better. Listening to music also works well for me, and it's something many people use to feel better when they are feeling lonely or down.

9. What advice would you give to someone your age who is feeling lonely or depressed?

It feels a little strange to give advice because I also feel depressed sometimes. But if I had to give advice, I would say that they should try to express their feelings to someone, especially their parents. Most of the time, parents are there to support us, so talking to them can be the best option.

3. Analysis (My POV on the audio)

From the interview, this person mainly feels lonely when he is around unfamiliar people and finds it hard to talk or mingle with them. However, he does not feel lonely when he is with people he already knows, like his close friends.

He also feels lonely when he is alone in his room with nothing to do. He feels stressed when he cannot express his thoughts clearly or when people misunderstand him. Social media does not affect him much because he does not use Instagram and mostly uses YouTube and WhatsApp. When he feels lonely or stressed, he watches movies, listens to music, or keeps himself busy with some work. Support from his friends and parents also helps him feel better.

Interview -2(sushant)

1. Audio file

Interview_2.mpeg

2. Transcript of that audio

1. Do you ever feel lonely sometimes? When do you usually feel that way?

Not that often, but yeah sometimes it happens. Usually when my friends are busy and I'm just sitting at home doing nothing.

2. What situations usually make you feel lonely?

Probably when I feel left out of something or when everyone is busy and I have no one to hang out with.

3. What situations or things in your life make you feel stressed or emotionally low?

Honestly, it doesn't happen very often. I don't usually feel very stressed or emotionally low. Sometimes feel stressed during exams or if something I planned doesn't go the way I expected, I feel a little annoyed for some time. But it doesn't stay for long. I usually just move on and focus on something else.

4. Does social media ever affect how you feel about yourself or your life?

Sometimes a little, but I try not to take it too seriously. I know people mostly post the best parts of their lives there

5. Do you feel comfortable sharing your problems with someone? Who do you usually talk to?

It depends. Sometimes I talk to my friends, especially if I need advice. Other times I just keep things to myself.

6. Do you feel supported by your friends or family when you're going through a difficult time?

Yeah definitely. My friends actually support me a lot. I've got a really good group of friends. If something is bothering one of us, we usually talk about it and try to help each other out. Sometimes we just sit together, talk, joke around, and that itself makes things feel lighter. We also have a lot of fun together, so even if I'm a little stressed, spending time with them usually makes me feel better. My family is also supportive, but with friends it's easier to talk about small things.

7. When you feel sad or overwhelmed, what do you usually do to feel better?

Usually I try to give myself a little time first and just calm down. But if I'm really feeling bad or something is bothering me a lot, I prefer being around my friends or people who are close to me. Talking with them or just spending time together helps a lot. I don't like sitting alone and thinking too much about the problem, because then I just keep overthinking and it makes it worse. Being with friends usually makes me feel normal again.

8. What do you think helps you the most when you are feeling lonely or down?

Talking to someone I trust and doing things I enjoy usually helps.

9. What advice would you give to someone your age who is feeling lonely or depressed?

I would say don't try to deal with everything alone. Talking about how you feel can really help.

3. Analysis (My POV on the audio)

From the responses, the participant appears to be a social, confident and outgoing person who enjoys spending time with friends. He rarely feels lonely or emotionally low, and when it happens, it is usually when his friends are busy or when he feels left out of activities. He seems to handle stress quite well and does not let problems affect him for a long time. The participant has a strong and supportive group of friends, and he feels comfortable talking with them when something is bothering him. Spending time with friends, talking, and having fun helps him feel better when he is stressed or upset. Although he uses social media sometimes, he does not take it too seriously and understands that people usually show only the positive parts of their lives online. Overall, he seems to be a positive and socially active person who relies on friendships and interaction to maintain his emotional well-being.

Interview -3(Monish)

1. Audio file

Interview_3.mpeg

2. Transcript of that audio

1. Do you ever feel lonely sometimes? When do you usually feel that way?

Yeah, sometimes I do feel lonely. It usually happens when I'm alone for a long time or when I feel like I can't really talk to anyone about what's on my mind. Even if people are around, sometimes I just feel like they won't understand me, so I just stay quiet.

2. What situations usually make you feel lonely?

Mostly when I feel like no one really understands me. Like when everyone else seems to be busy with their own things and I don't feel comfortable joining in.

3. What situations or things in your life make you feel stressed or emotionally low?

Mostly studies and exams.

There's always this pressure to do well and think about the future. Sometimes I also start over thinking small things, like if I said something wrong or if people are judging me. That kind of thinking makes me feel low.

4. Does social media ever affect how you feel about yourself or your life?

Hmm... yeah, maybe a little. I spend a lot of time just scrolling on my phone, so time passes like that. Because of that I don't really feel like going out or talking to new people much. I kind of stay in my own space most of the time... so yeah, I guess it affects me a bit.

5. Do you feel comfortable sharing your problems with someone? Who do you usually talk to?

Not really with many people. I usually keep things to myself. But if something is really bothering me, I might talk to one close friend. That's usually it

6. Do you feel supported by your friends or family when you're going through a difficult time?

Yeah, of course my family supports me. I know they care about me and would help if something is bothering me. But I usually don't share things with them. I don't know... I just feel a bit hesitant, and I start overthinking whether I should tell them or not. So most of the time I just keep it to myself.

7. When you feel sad or overwhelmed, what do you usually do to feel better?

I usually just listen to music or watch something. Sometimes I just stay alone for a while and try to calm down.

8. What do you think helps you the most when you are feeling lonely or down?

Just having some quiet time helps me. Doing things I enjoy like music or gaming makes me feel a bit better.

9. What advice would you give to someone your age who is feeling lonely or depressed?

I would say try talking to someone you trust. And also remember that feeling lonely sometimes is normal.

3. Analysis (My POV on the audio)

From the conversation, the participant appears to be a quiet and introverted person who prefers keeping most of his thoughts to himself. He sometimes feels lonely, especially when he feels that others may not understand what he is going through. Academic pressure and over thinking small situations seem to make him feel stressed at times. He also mentioned that spending a lot of time on social media keeps him in his own space and reduces his interest in interacting with new people. Although he knows that his family supports him, he finds it difficult to share his problems with them and usually keeps things to himself, except with one very close friend. When he feels sad or overwhelmed, he prefers calm activities like listening to music or watching something alone. Overall, he seems to be someone who values personal space and quiet time to manage his emotions.