

Person 4 — Sunitha

The Quietly Distracted Coper · Student

"Don't stay silent. Try to talk to someone you trust."

DEMOGRAPHICS

Pseudonym

Sunitha

Occupation

Student

Loneliness type

Situational loneliness

Help-seeking

Moderate — via close friend

GOALS & MOTIVATIONS

PRIMARY GOALS

- Stay connected and avoid feeling left out or disconnected
- Manage academic stress without getting overwhelmed
- Feel supported when going through difficult times

MOTIVATIONS

- Wants someone to talk to when feeling idle or low
- Motivated by keeping busy with work to avoid loneliness
- Values close friendships as a source of emotional relief

FRUSTRATIONS & PAIN POINTS

CURRENT FRUSTRATIONS

- Feels lonely when idle or has no one to talk to
- Studies and overthinking the future feel overwhelming
- Compares herself to others on social media and feels behind
- Feels left out or disconnected from others at times

WORKAROUNDS / COPING

- Listens to music to distract from problems
- Watches something to take her mind off stress
- Talks to a close friend when feeling really low
- Keeps busy with work to manage loneliness

BEHAVIORS & HABITS (observed from interview, not assumed)

- Opens up to one close friend
- Music & TV to distract
- Overthinks the future
- Social media comparison behavior
- Keeps busy to cope
- Feels lonely when idle
- Supported when she opens up

Person 5 — Sahithi

The Inward Processor · Student

"It's okay to feel that way. But don't keep everything inside."

DEMOGRAPHICS

Pseudonym

Sahithi

Occupation

Student

Loneliness type

Emotional loneliness

Help-seeking

Low — tends to keep to self

GOALS & MOTIVATIONS

PRIMARY GOALS

- Feel genuinely understood — not just tolerated
- Manage deadlines and keep up without burning out
- Find time for activities that bring personal enjoyment

MOTIVATIONS

- Wants to stop feeling alone even when support exists
- Motivated by doing things she enjoys as a way to reset
- Values emotional space to process feelings at her own pace

FRUSTRATIONS & PAIN POINTS

CURRENT FRUSTRATIONS

- Feels lonely especially at night when she starts overthinking
- Deadlines, studies and keeping up with everything feels like too much
- Compares her life to others on social media — makes her feel low
- Feels like no one really understands what she is going through

WORKAROUNDS / COPING

- Takes a break to step away from stress
- Listens to music to distract herself
- Does things she enjoys to give herself time
- Occasionally talks to a close friend when it gets too much

BEHAVIORS & HABITS (observed from interview, not assumed)

Keeps things to herself by default Nighttime overthinking Social media comparison behavior Music & breaks to cope
Feels unseen even with support Low help-seeking behavior Enjoys activities as emotional reset

Person 6 — Srivallika

The Optimistic Self-Regulator · Student

"Try to stay connected with people and not isolate yourself."

DEMOGRAPHICS

Pseudonym

Srivallika

Occupation

Student

Loneliness type

Situational loneliness

Help-seeking

High — talks to parents or a friend

GOALS & MOTIVATIONS

PRIMARY GOALS

- Stay emotionally stable even during stressful days
- Maintain connection with people to avoid isolation
- Keep a positive mindset and remind herself things will improve

MOTIVATIONS

- Believes staying active and going outside helps regulate mood
- Motivated by the support she receives from parents and friends
- Finds relief in light entertainment and physical activity

FRUSTRATIONS & PAIN POINTS

CURRENT FRUSTRATIONS

- Feels lonely during stressful days or when no one is available to talk
- Stress builds when things don't go as planned or overthinking kicks in
- Social media comparisons happen despite trying not to focus on it

WORKAROUNDS / COPING

- Stays active — goes outside for a while to reset
- Watches something light to lift her mood
- Talks to parents or a close friend when feeling low
- Reminds herself to stay positive and that things will get better

BEHAVIORS & HABITS (observed from interview, not assumed)

Talks to parents or close friend Stays active to cope Positive self-talk as a strategy Watches light content to unwind
 Aware of social comparison risk Goes outside when overwhelmed Feels better with support around her